Who are we

The purpose of the WCPPA is to establish and support a permanent network of Crime Prevention Practitioners who will provide leadership, foster cooperation, encourage information exchange and seek involvement from all segments of society to extend and improve crime prevention participation through the development of programs throughout Wisconsin.

To accomplish this mission, the goal of the WCPPA is to promote crime prevention methods and techniques designed to reduce criminal opportunity and victimization.

What we do

The WCPPA offers many benefits to its members such as:

- Annual conference held in September at locations across Wisconsin. This conference has featured national and state speakers on a variety of crime prevention and community policing topics.
- Trainings that are held throughout the year. Past trainings have focused on Crime-Free Multi-Housing, Prescription Drug Abuse, Problem-Oriented Policing and Media Relations.
- Programs such as Good Drugs Gone Bad, a state and national recognized program against pharmaceutical abuse.
- Website that provides a central resource from which all members can obtain crime prevention information, guidance, support, referrals, materials, technical assistance, and audiovisual resources.
